Syria To Ask U.N. to Study 'Plot' by U.S.

Arab Diplomats Plan Presentation Before Security Council

DAMASCUS (AP)—Syria today instructed its United Nations delegation to call the attention of the Security Council to a "serious threat to Middle East peace" stemming from an alleged American plot against Syria.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman said Syria did not demand any specific action by the Security Council.

Relations between Syria and the United States have been sagging steadily and reached a new low with Syria's announcement that the United States was behind a plot to oust President Shukri Kuwaty.

On the basis of this accusation, Syria last week ordered three members of the U. S. Embassy staff to leave the country.

U. S. Embassy officials have "complete fabrication."

Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar blames the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine for the poor relations between the two countries, contending the doctrine aims at destroying the independence of the Arab world and delivering it "into Zionism and imperialism."

BITAR TOLD a news conference Monday the U. S. program is to blame for Syria's current troubles with the United States.

"Syria has been the target of destructive activities aimed at making her accept the Eisenhower Doctrine," Bitar said. "It is already known that the main object of the conspiracy to overthrow the Syrian and Egyptian regimes is to set up governments that will change from liberal foreign policies and join the imperialistic line."

"In addition to her desire to harm Syria's independent policy," Bitar declared, "the United States recently launched plans for an economic embargo against Syria."

"She offered to sell American wheat at prices lower than in the United States itself to several countries which usually buy Syrian wheat."

Bitar declared that countries which accepted the Eisenhower Doctrine had become "nests of intrigue and plots against Syria and Egypt."

In Berlin, a Syrian cabinet minister said today Russian leaders in recent defense talks showed "deep understanding" of Syria's struggle with the United States.

Religion Plays Key Role in Adoption Case

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Frantum, who nursed back to health an infant too sick for adoption, must give up the baby today because they are Protestants—and the baby's mother wanted him raised a Roman Catholic.

The Frantums applied a year ago for adoption of the child, now about two. But they were turned down because, the Department of Welfare said, they were Lutherans and were middle-aged.

The couple fought through the circuit court and the court of appeals, the state's highest tribunal. They lost each round. Now they promise "We are still going to appeal to the U. S. Supreme Court."

As a tiny infant, the child was placed under the care of the Frantums by the Department of Welfare because it was too feeble to meet department adoption standards.

The department, as is the custom, gave no details on the child's mother.

Meanwhile, the department approved Navy Lt. and Mrs. Kenneth Adams of St. Mary's County as "suitable adoptive parents." Adams and his wife are Roman Catholics and have another child, a little girl, by adoption. He is stationed at the Operations Department at the Patuxent River Naval Air Station.

Adams is 32 and his wife 39. Frantum is 53 and his wife 47.

Ringside View, 19 Miles Up

Heavens Labeled As Indescribable

CROSBY, Minn. (AP)—"I have a ringside view of the heavens—it is indescribable."

This was the terse message early today from an Air Force major riding a huge plastic balloon toward a possible second altitude mark for such craft after setting a 100,000-foot record, about 19 miles, Monday in his first 15 hours aloft.

Dr. David G. Simons said by radio the night heavens ranged from deep violet to jet black and that he had an excellent view of the Aurora Borealis.

The giant polyethylene bag, 250 feet long and 200 in diameter, was launched from a 400-foot-deep mine pit here Monday.

Aside from condition reports, ground crews tracking the balloon said Simons' radio is used mostly for data to be used in evaluating man's chances for survival in outer space. He also is taking hundreds of pictures.

Col. J. W. McCurdy of the Air Force evaluation team on the ground said Simons had reached the estimated 100,000 feet over Detroit Lakes-Fergus Falls, Minn. Monday night. The previous mark for manned balloons, 96,000 feet, was set in June by Air Force Capt. Joseph Kittling in a test run for the current project.

McCurdy said there was every reason to hope that Simons today might exceed the projected 102,000-foot goal set for the big bag on its programed 24 hours aloft.

At 8:30 a. m. today, the balloon drifted at 96,000 feet above Breckenridge, Minn., about 150 miles west of the launching point. Indications were the balloon would continue to rise as the sun's warmth increased.

Simons reported the balloon dropped several thousand feet early today in turbulence created by a heavy thunder and lightning storm at 50,000 feet above Sisseton, S. D.

The balloon dropped to about 65,000 feet. Simons regained altitude by dumping ballast. He described the storm to ground trackers as "a whale of a one" and spectacular to watch from above.

Simons began his descent shortly before noon today after telling his ground crew by radio that he had reached an altitude of 102,000 feet.

His last reported position was about 50 miles west of Breckenridge, Minn.

Scientific information about conditions in the upper air and the ability of man to survive there were the objects of his flight. His peak height was 6,000 feet higher than the previous record for a manned balloon.

Simons was originally expected to drift about 500 miles west, but has remained instead within about 200 miles of the take-off spot.

Pennsy Town Whites Greet Negro Resident with Jeers

LEVITTOWN, Pa. (AP)—A Negro family moved into this all-white community under police protection Monday. Some residents greeted their arrival with jeers.

"All I want to do is to be a good neighbor and I hope others do the same," said William J. Myers, 24, in his new ranch-style home.

Monday night, 42 state policemen were busy keeping some 250 protesting neighbors in this sprawling development of 15,000 homes pushed back two blocks from Myers' home.

Rocks were hurled and a trooper and a news photographer were struck. One man was arrested on a charge of disorderly conduct.

State Police Lt. J. M. Wicker shouted over a loudspeaker: "You have struck one of my men. I will not tolerate this. I give you 10 minutes to get back to your homes."

Twenty-two troopers lined up with riot sticks and forced the crowd back. The sticks were used on one resident who Wicker said was cursing officers and resisting the police line. He was identified as Donald Walker, 34, a truck driver, of Levittown, who was fined $10 after pleading guilty to a charge of disorderly conduct.

By midnight, all but a handful of the crowd had returned to their modernistic homes. The police force was cut to four troopers guarding the Myers home.

All was quiet at the house in the Dogwood Hollow section, where Myers moved in with his wife, Daisy, 32, and one of their three children. Two other children are staying with relatives.

At a news conference, Myers said, "I don't believe the demon-

Scandal Witness List Is Pared

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Defense plans to send a long procession of movie stars across the witness stand in the criminal libel trial of Confidential and Whisper magazines have been wiped out.

Judge Herbert V. Walker ruled Monday that testimony could be introduced only concerning magazine stories already read into the record of the trial.

The articles about which the defense remains free to call witnesses involve Marlene O'Hara, Dorothy Dandridge, Alan Dale, John Carroll, Frank Sinatra, Eddie Fisher, Anita Ekberg, Anthony Steele, Billy Daniels, Jayne Mansfield, Mickey Hargitay, Dick Powell, June Allyson, Corinne Calvet, Robert Mitchum and Mae West.

Paris Hears Report Of Moroccan Clash

PARIS (AP)—Reports reaching Paris today said fighting broke out between Spanish soldiers and Moroccan civilians Friday in the Spanish enclave of Ifni on the southwest coast of Morocco.

The reports, not confirmed, said that following the incidents, Spanish planes and ships made a show of force along the coast.

strations that have been held present a true picture of the feelings of the people of Levittown. All people are good of heart.

"I expected there might be some trouble when we bought this place, but I didn't think there would be so much."

The college-educated Negro told reporters he paid $12,150 for his home, buying it from previous owners who had rented out the house for some time. He is a refrigeration mechanic in nearby Trenton, N. J.

Martha Stern Hiding Out in Czech City

VIENNA (AP)—Mrs. Martha Dodd Stern, accused in testimony before the Un-American Committee of the U. S. congress of being a Soviet spy, is hiding out in Prague, capital of Communist-ruled Czechoslovakia.

There her husband has called the charges "fantastic."

This was disclosed today by a spokesman for the U. S. Embassy in Prague after talking with Westerners who encountered the husband, Alfred Stern, a former New York investment broker.

Stern denied the charges made against his wife by Boris Morros, movie director who worked as a United States counter-spy.

Stern, however, refused to go into details. He refused to let any Westerner see his wife or their 12-year-old son, Robert, who traveled with them from Mexico City.

The Sterns arrived in Prague July 21. They had faced possible extradition from Mexico to appear before a United States grand jury investigating espionage. They are traveling on Paraguayan passports.

Stern has maintained that he and his wife are not fugitives but "merely tourists." He has said they planned to visit "certain other countries" but claimed he had no itinerary.

The U. S. Embassy in Prague said it could do nothing about them because they were not traveling on American passports.

3 Canton Prisoners Still Being Sought

CANTON (AP)—Four prisoners escaped from a first-floor cell block at the Stark County jail today, but one of them was caught less than two hours later.

Recaptured was Jack L. Tipple, 36, of Massillon, held for forgery. Sheriff Harry W. Grosshaus identified those still at large as Howard T. Clark, 19, of Canton, who was held for the armed forces for being absent without official leave; Charles W. Shepley Jr., 26, of Canton, awaiting sentence on a second-degree manslaughter conviction; and Ralph J. Piccolo, 44, Waterbury, Conn., who was held for burglary.

U.S. Diplomats Stress Danger In Syria Move

Other Arab Nations Getting Word From American Officials

WASHINGTON (AP)—American diplomats in the Middle East are trying to impress on Arab nations the danger of Syria becoming a Soviet satellite.

Officials here said, without elaboration, there was evidence already that Syria's neighbors were gravely concerned.

These officials expected other Arab countries to counsel Syria's government against drifting any closer toward Kremlin domination.

U. S. officials were adding support, authorities said, to this counsel in talks with Arab diplomats in Jordan, Lebanon, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and even Egypt, which itself is closely involved with Moscow through heavy arms purchases.

Possible action by the Arab League was not ruled out. Nor was it considered beyond possibility that Egypt's president Nasser might throw his weight into the breach opened by the Communists in the Arab position against undue influence from either East or West.

NASSER HAS ample opportunity to do this, Syria's President Shukri Kuwaty is in Egypt to consult with Nasser and get medical attention. Kuwaty went there just before appointing Gen. Afif Bizry, variously called a Communist and a pro-Communist, to head the Syrian army.

Beyond talking to Syria's neighbors, no American plan has jelled as yet for coping with probably the most determined bid yet by Moscow for the Middle East's people, oil and real estate.

British Ambassador Sir Harold Caccia Monday declared Syria is following a pattern which may make it Russia's first Middle East satellite.

If that happens, the Communists will have succeeded where the Czars failed. The Russians already have a foothold in Egypt thanks to Nasser's purchase of $250 million worth of Soviet arms, including submarines.

Syria, too, expects to get submarines in its estimated $70 million arms deal with Russia. Afghanistan is buying about $30 million worth of Communist arms and Yemen about $20 million.

Caccia made his gloomy statement after an hour-long conference with Secretary of State Dulles on Syria and other foreign policy problems.

Dulles earlier had lunched with President Eisenhower at the White House. Officials said they discussed the Syrian crisis along with House cuts in foreign aid funds.

Cincy Reward Money To Be Split 4 Ways

CINCINNATI (AP)—A three-man committee has agreed to a four-way division of a $2,778 reward raised for a solution to the holdup slaying of Cincinnati detective Walter Hart.

Lemuel Trother, arrested in Selma, Ala., in February, was convicted of shooting the policeman to death during a 1955 cafe robbery, and was sentenced to die.

The committee decided Monday that 70 per cent, or $1,945, of the reward will go to George B. Porter, identification officer of the Selma Police Department.

Porter first identified Trotter through FBI "wanted" posters as a Selma jail prisoner on a minor charge. The officer nailed down the identification through fingerprints.

The committee said the remaining 30 per cent will be divided equally among Selma patrolmen Frank Barr and James Foster, and an elderly Selma man, Walker Smith. Each will get $277.

County prosecutor C. Watson Hoover, a member of the committee, said, "their activities contributed to the solution of this case, but in an incidental manner only. Hence their lesser share in the reward."

Senate Committee Ponders Ike's Foreign Aid Request

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Eisenhower administration may learn today whether it was successful in its plea for restoration of much of the $809,650,000 cut by the House from new foreign aid funds.

The big test was due in the Senate Appropriations Committee which arranged a closed-door meeting to consider the aid bill.

It appeared the group was closely divided on the question of in-

Christians Urged Fight Discrimination

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The world's Christians were urged today to form a solid front against racial discrimination.

"There can be no color lines drawn where the Christian church is at work, either in missions, in mercy, or in learning," Dr. Edgar M. Carlson said in an address to the Lutheran World Federation's third assembly.

He is president of Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter, Minn.

"There can be no basis in faith or in fact for any assumption of superiority on the part of any of God's children," he said. "The record of the more fortunate and privileged races, and in particular the white race, is compiled of sufficient injustice and oppression to give the lie to any pretense of racial superiority."

He said Christians are not far enough ahead of governments in abolishing the color line in worshipping communities.

As it is, he contended, Christianity has waited so long it may not be able to make an important contribution toward ending discrimination.

Racial problems in this country, Africa, Asia and other areas constitute an urgency that is "growing by leaps and bounds," he said.

The U. S. Supreme Court's anti-segregation rulings have been met by "patience and good judgment" on the part of most Negroes, Dr. Carlson said, "but we have reason for embarrassment and shame that certain elements among the white race have not demonstrated equal qualities."

Fair and Pleasant Continues Here

More of the same fair and pleasant weather is on tap here tonight and tomorrow according to today's forecast.

Although the area is falling behind in the rainfall department, this comfortable weather is indeed welcome. So far this month only .45 inch of rain has fallen here, giving the locality a deficit of 1.90 inches.

Cool nights and pleasant days have marked the local scene for the last couple of days. Yesterday's high reached 84 degrees, dropping to a chilly 50 during the night.

Minnesotans Bid Low on Freeway Job

COLUMBUS (AP)—S. J. Groves and Sons, Inc., Minneapolis, today submitted the apparent low bid of $2,837,685 for building the first section of the Cincinnati-Columbus freeway.

Thirteen contractors submitted bids on the section in Wayne County that includes 4.2 miles of road plus bridges to carry five local roads over the freeway.

The Ohio Department of Highways had estimated the section, which will include a roadside park, would cost $3,109,000.

A contract to build the section will be awarded later after the department has checked all bids.

In most cases, the apparent low bidder receives the contract.

The apparent second lowest bid was $2,840,539 submitted by C. F. Replogle of Circleville, just a few thousand dollars higher than the Groves bid.

The section is to be completed by June 30, 1959. It was designed by the consulting engineer firm of Michael Baker Jr., Inc.

The department will open bids Sept. 17 on a four-mile section of the freeway in northern Delaware County.

Other projects for which bids were opened today include: Fairfield County—Relocating 3 miles of U. S. 22 in the Rushville area, estimate $1,512,600; apparent low bid $1,409,559 by C. F. Replogle of Circleville.

California GOP Pot Boils High

Gov. Knight Aiming Fire at Knowland

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP)—Gov. Goodwin J. Knight quickly followed up his formal entry into California's 1958 political race with word today he would run on both his own Republican and the Democratic tickets in the gubernatorial primary next June 3.

Knight announced his candidacy for re-election Monday, nearly 10 months ahead of the election, in an apparent move to get the jump on his prospective rival, Sen. William F. Knowland.

He made it clear that if the Senate minority leader decides to run against him, he would raise the question whether Knowland sought the governorship as a stepping stone to the presidency in 1960.

His statement came amidst Democratic charges of a "deal" between Knowland and Vice President Nixon. As the Democrats tell it, Nixon would back Knowland for governor; Knowland would support Nixon for President, with Nixon swinging to Knowland if he can't make it himself.

KNIGHT, in disclosing his plans to cross in file, called himself a staunch Republican.

California allows candidates for partisan office to cross-file on other tickets in the primary. Only one governor, Earl Warren, has ever swept both major party nominations; he did it in 1946 in winning the second of his eventual three terms.

Knowland scored a double victory in his 1952 Senate election, compiling the highest vote in state history. Knight pulled it off as a candidate for lieutenant governor in 1950, but failed in his quest for the Democratic nomination in the 1954 gubernatorial primary.

2 Trains Sandwich Auto; Couple Dies

Police identified them as Reginald May, 25, and his wife, Jane, 23.

The automobile was hit in the rear end at the Seaman Street crossing by a northbound Baltimore & Ohio freight, dragged 100 feet and then wedged by a southbound Chesapeake & Ohio freight.

$121,000 Take Reported from Car-Hauling Firm

Teamster Chieftain Flares Up as Probers Delve Into History

WASHINGTON (AP)—Teamster boss James R. Hoffa was confronted today with evidence his wife and a friend—the wife of another union official—ran a $4,000 stake into $125,000 dealing with a firm for which Hoffa helped settle a strike.

Hoffa, in the witness chair of the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, did not dispute the figures presented by Committee Counsel Robert F. Kennedy but said Kennedy apparently was speaking of profits "before taxes."

"Oh, did they pay taxes?" Kennedy said.

The profitable business dealings of the two women, dating back to 1949, were developed as Kennedy dug into the background years of the 44-year-old Midwest teamsters chief, now risen to the point where he seems their apparent to national leadership of this country's biggest union.

Kennedy went, too, into Hoffa's police record, and brought from the witness an acknowledgment that he once returned more than $7,500 to some grocers after he had been charged with extortion.

MRS. BERT Brennan, wife of the president of Teamsters Local No. 337 in Michigan, was named as Mrs. Hoffa's partner in the business venture.

Under Kennedy's questions, Hoffa said the two women used their maiden names (Mrs. Hoffa was Josephine Poszygank and Mrs. Brennan's was Alice Johnson) to set up a firm in 1949 known as Test Fleet.

The firm engaged in leasing motor equipment to an automobile hauling company named Commercial Carriers.

Hoffa said he had helped to settle what he called an illegal strike against Commercial Carriers in 1949.

The first president of Test Fleet, Hoffa said, was James Wrape, a St. Louis lawyer. Wrape had represented Commercial Carriers in the strike negotiations.

Kennedy asked how many times Hoffa has been arrested.

"I don't know, Bob," Hoffa said. "I think it was about 17 times I was picked up. In many instances the charges were dismissed but in three of these cases there were convictions."

KENNEDY SAID in one case the grand jury charged Hoffa with extortion in the collection of money from some grocers.

Flaring up, Hoffa said this charge was later reduced to a misdemeanor.

"I'm not saying you were guilty of extortion," Kennedy told him. "You're implying it, sir," Hoffa retorted. "You're implying that I am guilty of extortion and it isn't true."

Fireman's Life All Boredom, Excitement

VETERAN FORCE — Representing over 151 years of service to the city, Circleville's firemen must be not only masters at fighting fires but also good housekeepers. In addition to chasing fires, the crew members maintain a seven-room fire station and

CHOW TIME — Circleville firemen buy and prepare their own food, making it necessary for them to be handy about the kitchen. Visitors dropping by the fire station at meal time are quick to agree the firemen have plenty of talent in putting out a good meal. Pictured above preparing a typical meal are, from left, Homer Adams, Robert Wolf and Ray Anderson. (Photo by Beaver Studio)

NOTHING LIKE HOMECOOKING — Providing the fire alarm doesn't ring, firemen enjoy a well-prepared meal. Preparing daily meals is only one of the many tasks the local firefighters must perform in maintaining an efficient department. Much time is devoted to housekeeping at the E. Franklin St. station which has become second home to the local crew. Shown above eating their own cooking are from left, Bernard Wolf, Ray Anderson and Robert Wolf. (Photo by Beaver Studio)

Cooking Between Alarms Big Problem for Smoke-Eaters

By PAUL SMALLWOOD
Herald Staff Writer

An average day in the life of a Circleville fireman usually results in some unusual twists, plenty of routine work and oftentimes hair-raising excitement.

A local fireman's day begins at 6 a. m. which is wake-up time at the E. Franklin St. station house. An 8-hour day is unheard of there for the local crews work on 24-hour shifts. Every man on Chief Talmer Wise's department is quick to relate that the station house is second home in every sense of the word. Believing in the old saying that "home is what you make it" the firemen have become proficient housekeepers, including the art of cooking, washing dishes, making beds, sweeping and scrubbing floors and the hundred and one other tasks that plague an average housewife.

All these tasks are in addition to the man-sized job of maintaining an efficient department which stands ready to dash to fires at any hour of the day or night.

A FIREMAN'S trick starts at 7 a. m. one day and ends at 7 a. m. the following day when a new three-man shift comes on. The daily routine calls for dusting off the three fire trucks and one ambulance, sweep the sidewalks, see that no trucks block the front doors even if the drivers do argue that they will be gone only five minutes. It so happens that five minutes is a long time when a fire is raging.

Standard operating procedure then calls for a complete check on the fire trucks to make sure they are ready to go on a minute's notice.

About this time the telephone starts ringing, usually bringing a flurry of questions such as "where does Mr. so and so live?", "have you seen my black and white dog with three white feet?", "why is my street closed?", "why doesn't the city fix my alley?" or "when will you have the next fire, my Johnny likes to see the fire trucks go by?" These are just a few of the questions which prompts the fireman at the phone to start scratching his head in search for a polite, yet reasonable answer.

Lunch comes at about 11 a. m. which the firemen prepare themselves, for it would be an unpardonable sin if they were "out to lunch" when the fire bell rang. An inviting aroma comes daily from the station house kitchen indicating that the firemen are old hands at preparing a delicious meal.

Although many people think the city provides food for the firemen, this is not the case. Each shift brings or buys necessary items for daily meals, paying for it out of their own pockets.

As might be expected, many times, the fire alarm rings just when a meal is being prepared. When this happens, the fire fighters usually forget all about the roast in the oven and when they get back it is better than done.

IT IS common knowledge that most men dislike dishwashing. Although it isn't openly admitted at the local firehouse, this fact holds true there. Nevertheless, housewives probably would be amazed at the sparkling pots, pans, plates and utensils after the firemen finish this unwanted task.

In addition to cooking, the department also has seven large-sized rooms to keep in orderly fashion, quite a job for anybody. A glimpse at the station's spotless floors, neatly made beds, clean windows and well-arranged furniture proves that the men take pride in their living quarters.

As for the brightly polished fire trucks and well-cared for equipment, these items undoubtedly would pass any fire marshal's inspection.

The firemen's pole, made famous in movies and fiction, receives quite a bit of attention at the local department. Ready for instant use, the shiny brass pole allows firemen to descend to the first floor in a matter of seconds.

Most youngsters get quite a thrill out of seeing a fire truck. Aware of this, Chief Wise and his men cut and installed a special low level window in the station's garage doors so that small fry could get a peek at the engines without standing on each other's backs.

Circleville can be proud of its veteran department which has accumulated over 151 years of total service. Chief Wise leads the list with 33 years on the force. Beginning his career in 1924, he was named chief in 1926, giving him 31 years continual service in this position.

ROBERT Wolf and Ray Anderson are next on the list with 28 and 27 years service respectively. Wolf joined the department in 1929 and Anderson in 1930.

Veterans Fred Howell and Noble Barr each have 18 years with the department, both accepting their jobs in 1939. Dan Eitel, with 15 years service, became a fireman in 1942, and Bernard Wolf's 11-year tenure started in 1946.

Newest members of the force are Glen Jones who started last year and Homer Adams, hired last month. Adams replaced Tom Eveland who resigned recently after two years service.

In between fires, cooking, washing dishes and cleaning house, the firemen usually watch television or discuss the latest happenings in Circleville. Whether they are seeking advice or an argument, visitors are always welcome at the Franklin St. station.

Mechanics Liens Taken to Court

TOLEDO (AP)—Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Corp. of Oakland Calif., has asked U. S. District Court here to help settle several claims against it as the result of mechanics liens filed in Columbiana County.

The firm deposited $79,049 with the court and asked that the money be apportioned to creditors as deemed appropriate.

The petition said the chemical firm contracted with the Henry J. Kaiser Construction Co. of Oakland to building a plant in Columbiana County. The construction company sub-contracted some of the work to other firms which, in turn, let contracts to still other firms.

About eight firms are involved in the dispute over payments.

Relax for Complete Vacation

"What you need," said the doctor, "is a good long vacation."
"But doctor," the woman said, "I have just come back from a three-week vacation. I'm tired."
The woman had spent the three weeks visiting her mother and helping with the household projects, including an impressive amount of canning.
What does make a vacation? Well, absence of responsibility is basic. The person who can take it easy, stretch and loaf, do exactly what he wants to do when he wants to do it, and be his own master for a little while is having a vacation.
Violent and drastic change is not always a good vacation. The chap who has been bowed over a desk for 50 weeks is not a good mountain climber, no matter how much he may desire to be one. It is best to go easy.

Actually, a vacation should be lived according to rules that aren't too different from the way one lives at home. A salesman will probably have fun if he spends part of his time talking to people—but without the obligation of selling anything. An enthusiastic tennis player should take his rackets to the resort.
A vacation that is a vacation depends apparently on one's attitude toward it. The ability to give up the sense of responsibility and pressure, the light-hearted attitude of living from day to day, the revived sense of adventure are basic.
Some people can do it without ever leaving home. Some cannot escape in a journey of 10,000 miles.

Sorghum Replacing Wheat

Owing to acreage cutbacks, the wheat crop this year in Kansas—for 40 years the nation's leading wheat-producing state will take second rank to another crop, the sorghums.
The wheat crop estimate for the state is 91.5 million bushels, one of the smallest crops of modern times. Sorghum production is expected to be 111 million bushels, or double the 1956 harvest.
Until World War I, corn exceeded the wheat yield in Kansas by a wide margin. In 1889 Kansas had a bin-bursting corn crop of 273 million bushels, the wheat harvest being negligible. Demands of the first World War started the Kansas wheat dominance which was unbroken until this year.

The sorghums got their chance because of wheat's troubles. Wheat acreage cutbacks to meet the surplus problem gave the opportunity to turn to sorghums. Favorable growing conditions did the rest.
The sorghums, being more adaptable as livestock feed than wheat, call for an increase in livestock numbers. Feed grains are already in surplus in this country. Merely growing and binning the grain will accomplish little. The sorghums must be marketed on the hoof, or for industrial purposes, as the bulk of the corn crop is.
The challenge remains to utilize substitute crops in ways that do not create new market gluts.

Monday, a Day of Posterity

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Many people who believe in the old philosophy about here today and gone tomorrow sometimes wonder whether Monday is the day to be here.
They are prisoners of the wrong kind of thinking.
Any day is a good day to be in this world, and Monday, if a man approaches it with the right attitude, is as good a day as any other to appreciate life—if that's the kind of thing a fellow enjoys, as most people do.
Too many people think of Monday as a limp hello that follows a livid weekend. They would break the back of the surly camel by trying to make him tote the straw reminders of yesterday's hay, reaped in the weekend sunshine.
This is the wrong attitude. Monday, approached moderately and with a constructive attitude, is not so much the dismal morning twilight of an epic essay into living, as it is a bugle call of adventure.

Yes, that is the way to regard Monday—as the bright doorway to another good clean week of opportunity.
It is the golden portal to tomorrow, which, (I accept the calendar's promise) is good old glamorous Tuesday. And after Tuesday comes mellow Wednesday, Thursday with a hint of harvest, and again another Friday. So the week wears, glistening as it goes, brightening as it ages.
When you get right down to the problem of facing Monday (and every man has to), one sees it not so much as a day to endure as a stepping stone toward finer living.

Good old Monday, the solid get-your-feet-back-on-the-ground day, the day man forsakes the pursuit of the wilderness of pleasure and resumes the pursuit of the wilderness of duty.
No matter how poverty-ridden a man may be in terms of piled up cash or the currency of the spirit, he has a wealth of Mondays in his life.
Every now and then a man gets to thinking about his obligations in this world, not only to himself, but to posterity.
A guy can't take it with him. So—
What better gift can a man make to posterity than mortal Monday morning? What else would he rather leave behind him?

Don't Applaud Everything

By George Sokolsky

Sen. Jacob K. Javits of New York said something at the meeting of the American Bar Assn. which seemed to me to be wrong, if not altogether immoral. He advised the lawyers that it was their duty to back up the authority of the Supreme Court with public opinion whether or not they agreed with its decisions.
How a man can, in conscience, support what he does not believe to be true is not within my understanding although it is often done by those who wish to get on and to make no enemies. The intellectuals call it conforming, but they themselves are as glib as others because if they do not conform to intellectual patterns that are popular at the moment, they grow unpopular in their own circles. Only those who do not conform to current patterns who are impervious to the applause of others.
The senator from New York would have one applaud (for that is what support by public opinion means) the Court as a duty rather than a judgment. Surely it is impossible to applaud Mr. Justice Brennan for his clipped quotation of a precedent from Chief Justice John Marshall, omitting 16 sentences, until it becomes a misquotation.
It is true that one likes to speak well of the President of the United States, but Eisenhower would be among the first to deny that one must applaud his every act, speak favorably of his every utterance. Surely, Eisenhower would not want anyone to suggest that he is a megalomaniac as were Hitler and Stalin who could not tolerate a contrary point of view. Eisenhower is a modest man who would deny such superiority over others, even though he holds a high position in this country. If the Court is to be applauded for whatever it does, the President should also be and then we cease to be a free people and become a nation of sycophants.

I raise this question because it is becoming increasingly usual to be told that one should not criticize the President as it makes him lose face abroad; that Congress should grant him whatever he desires lest his dignity at home be lessened; that his appointments be praised even when they reduce themselves to ridicule. Similarly, one is told that it is wrong to criticize the Supreme Court.
Recently, I was in conversation with a lady whom I have known for many years and who hated Franklin D. Roosevelt and who regarded Harry Truman as unfit to be President because he failed in the haberdashery business. She and I had always agreed that it is the function of good and effective citizenship to be alert to abuses of power and improprieties of conduct in public office, no matter how high the position. That would seem to be a reasonable attitude in a free society.
However, it is all changed now. A criticism of President Eisenhower for pursuing some policy that Roosevelt or Truman pursued is very wicked. It was all right to oppose Roosevelt and Truman, but it is bad form and intellectual degradation even to whisper a suggestion that while Eisenhower is a pretty decent person, he is not a deity to be adored and salaamed.
I heard persons such as I am here describing speak with brutal frankness about the gifts accepted by Franklin D. Roosevelt and his wife, Eleanor Roosevelt, and the deep-freezes, etc., of the Truman Administration, but they regard Wayne Morse as downright vulgar to raise the same question of gifts which these good Republicans used to bandy about at every dinner party concerning his predecessors.

If suppose every President has received gifts and I do not know whether anyone has ever written a book on the subject, calculating who got more and who got less. But obviously what was wrong for Roosevelt to do or for Truman to do is wrong for anyone else to do and those who were critical of Roosevelt and Truman ought not to be inconsistent in their partisanship. At any rate, if they wish to change their minds they ought to apologize to Mrs. Roosevelt for what they said about her.
In a word, in a free society free men speak openly and freely and honestly on public issues and about public men. That is why we are a free people. President Eisenhower said as much at a recent press conference.

Chester W. Goble, fund director, said most inquiries concern the date on which a particular check will be mailed, the amount of the check, whether an individual has filed a claim, and the mailing address of certain applicants.

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

THE RECENT EDITION of the Ziegfeld Follies set back the producers a fat $400,000 before the curtain rose for the first performance. Contrast that figure with the bill Florenz Ziegfeld footed for his very first Follies in 1907: exactly $13,000! But the Follies was built on the solidest foundation in this world: beautiful girls, gorgeous clothes (what there was of them), and big stars. The first Follies star, incidentally, was Nora Bayes. For singing "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?" and several other production numbers, she received a salary of $75 a week.

It looked like a lean Thanksgiving for veteran comic Joe Frisco one year, and a friend gave him a present of $20 to buy a turkey. Joe was next discovered at his favorite hangout: the racetrack. "You here!" reproached the friend. "Where's that turkey you wanted?" Joe explained, "He just came in sixth."

Skin Test Quick Method Of Checking on Allergies

By Herman N. Bundesen, M.D.

If you have an allergy, let me urge you to get a skin test.
Except for certain cases of drug and food allergy, a skin test probably is the best, as well as the quickest, way of determining the allergens to which you are sensitive.
In fact, this is the most widely-used method of determining allergic sensitizations since the skin is involved in most such reactions.
There are four general methods of making skin tests. Just which should be used in your specific case, or, indeed, whether you should have any type of skin test, must, of course, be determined by your doctor.
The patch test takes the longest time and can be used only with agents which penetrate the skin surface and with those possessing delayed action. Usually, it's used to determine allergies in cases of contact dermatitis.
With this test, an allergen is placed upon the unbroken skin and permitted to remain there for a minimum of 24 hours. When an allergen to which you are allergic is used, there will be a reaction on your skin.
In the scratch test, the antigen is placed over a scratch which breaks the outer layer of skin cells.
The puncture test is somewhat similar. Procedure in this test is to place a drop of antigen on the skin surface and then prick the skin with a needle.
A fourth method is the intracutaneous test in which a hypodermic needle is used to inject a small amount of the antigen solution under the outer layers of the skin.
The three latter methods are used to produce immediate allergic reactions on the skin.
By studying the severity of the various reactions, your doctor can determine the best method of treating your allergy.
These tests are quick, practically painless and generally pretty reliable. If you need such a check, get it right away. There's no use suffering if you don't have to.
Question and Answer
D. D.: I have had a constant pain and pressure in the upper part of my stomach. An X-ray showed I have small stones in my gallbladder. Should the gallbladder be removed?
Answer: It would be advisable for you to consult your doctor about removing your gallbladder. Once stones have formed, surgery is the accepted cure for them.

Senate Rackets Group Asking Added Funds

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Rackets Investigating Committee, saying it has only started on what needs to be done, has asked the Senate for another $150,000 to finance it through Jan. 31.
The money would raise the committee's budget to a half million dollars for its first year of searching for evidence of racketeering, graft and other wrongdoing in the labor-management field.

The World Today

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON (AP)—This is an ABC on how the civil rights bill got caught in a political wringer. It will be lucky if it comes out alive.

The House debated it 14 days, the Senate a month, before passing it. The House voted the kind of bill the Eisenhower administration asked for. The Senate made drastic changes.

In the House an overwhelming number of Republicans, with a majority of Democrats, put it over against the opposition of Southern Democrats. From a political standpoint this was good business for the Republicans.

With both parties anxious for the Northern Negro vote in the 1958 and 1960 elections, Republicans could rightly say after the House vote: "We far outnumbered the Democrats in getting this bill through."

The Republicans got the jump on the Democrats in the Senate too by leading the way to consideration of the bill. But there one of the bill's main sections—no. 3—was knocked out.

This section would let the government step into all kinds of civil rights cases, not just those involving voting rights. A majority of Democrats voted for this, a majority of Republicans against.

Republicans could argue rightly the Democrats had weakened the bill. The water gets muddy here Democrats could rightly say knocking out Section 3 would have been impossible unless enough Republicans helped them do it.

Then the Senate made a drastic change in Section 4, which, as passed by the House, would have done this:

In voting rights violations the government could step in and ask a judge for an order to stop them. Anyone disobeying could be tried by the judge—without a jury—and jailed for civil or criminal contempt.

The Senate changed this: A judge could still try a man for civil contempt but there must be a jury trial for criminal contempt. Further, the Senate said in any kind of criminal contempt— not just voting cases—there must be a jury trial.

An overwhelming number of Democrats, with some small Republican help, voted for this. The big majority of Republicans opposed it. Now the Republicans could argue, since this change would affect the whole judicial system, that President Eisenhower might have to veto the bill if this was the kind sent to him to sign.

The Republicans even predicted this meant the death of the bill. Democrats could argue the changes made by the Senate were, in part, an effort to compromise a bit with the Southerners to prevent a filibuster which might have blocked passage.

Further, the Democrats could say rightly this might not be exactly the bill approved by the Senate in this century.

But since House and Senate bills were different, there could be no new civil rights law at all unless both houses agreed on a single bill, either by compromise or by one yielding to the other.

And even an agreed-on bill couldn't become law unless Eisenhower was satisfied enough to sign it.

Republicans reacted sharply, even going so far as to say no bill was better than the Senate version.

This put them on a political spot.

If the Republicans fought any House compromise on the Senate bill—and there was no law this year — Democrats would accuse them of killing the legislation. The Republicans could argue, as they did, that the Senate bill was a "monstrosity" which would gum up the whole court system and was worse than none.

Democrats began talking compromise: they said maybe the jury trial amendment in Section 4 could be limited to voting rights cases alone. At this moment Republicans still appear to be taking a stone-wall and perhaps politically risky stand against any jury trial amendment at all.

But then the Democrats got themselves in a box. By House procedure, the Senate bill—as a step along the path to compromise or action at all—was sent to the Rules Committee.

There a Southern Democrat—Rep. Howard Smith of Virginia—is chairman and a long-time foe of civil rights. He says he wants the bill killed. And he's trying to bottle it up in the committee to prevent any action.

There the bill now stands.

"Mary Haworth's Mail"

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: I love my wife, but she is driving me crazy with her ridiculous obsession about my drinking. During our 16 years' marriage, I've always had several drinks every night—but it didn't seem to bother her so much, until recently.

Joyce grows increasingly nervous and insecure and is very cross with me and the children. She blames everything on my drinking, and lately I notice she's even started marking the bottle, to see how much I drink each evening. When I tell her she's crazy, she urges me to send her to a psychiatrist then, and says she'd welcome the opportunity.

I'll admit that occasionally I have over-imbibed, enough to give her anxiety, but not often. And I don't consider myself an alcoholic. Nor do I have faith in anyone's helping a person except himself.

After dealing with people all day, I am in need of relaxation when I get home at night—and to sit down with four or five drinks is recreation for me. But Joyce makes life hell, lecturing and preaching day and night. You'd think she'd stop it when she sees it makes me so unhappy, and that I'm not going to give in to her whim.

Incidentally, her recent hounding and distress have driven me to drinking about half of my daily intake behind her back. But she is so hypersensitive that she's even caught on to that, and considers it deceit. I was only trying to spare her worry—but it seems I've simply made her worse.

I am at my wit's end. Is it possible that a psychiatrist could help her? The children are bound to suffer from such a nervous distraught mother. Both of us come from unhappy homes—could this be causing some of our trouble?

E. K.

DEAR E. K.: You are calling for help, with a guilty conscience, without being ready (without having the courage or honesty) to put the finger on yourself as a problem drinker.

Neurotic your wife may be; it takes a neurotic to marry your kind of character. But granted that she is a candidate for psychiatric care, still that doesn't mean that you are innocent of wrongdoing—and in your heart, you know it.

Although you don't really want a true answer to your SOS—an answer that will put you on the beam of deliverance from the bottle—I'm going to give you the straight goods, anyway.

On your behalf, I've been glancing through two interesting books that you and your wife ought to read—both published in 1955, and up-to-date in your field of need.

One is titled "Just One More" (Coward - McCann) by James Lamb Free. On the dust jacket it is sub-titled: "Concerning the Problem Drinker." The author speaks to all who want to help the alcoholic but don't know how—to the despairing wife, husband, son, daughter, partner, friend or next-of-kin of a heavy drinker. He offers "some plain clear answers for the puzzled room mate of the man or woman who appears to be drinking too much."

The other is titled "Alcoholism: Its Scope, Cause and Treatment" (Random House) by Dr. Ruth Fox and Peter Lyon. It is a guide for those professionally concerned about alcoholism, as well as those personally involved, including alcoholics themselves.

The first-named book reviews Dr. E. M. Jellinek's concept of the two main groups of problem drinkers: (1) the neurotics and (2) the inadequate personalities. He lists five categories of neurotics, and six categories of inadequate personalities, who drink for consolation and become enslaved.

Offhand, I'd identify you as Type No 1 in the inadequate personality classification—the self-pampered fellow who drinks "for relief from even the smallest stresses and strains of daily living. Gradually alcohol takes over . . . and control is lost. These people are good bets for AA," says Dr. Jellinek; and also respond to other treatment methods.

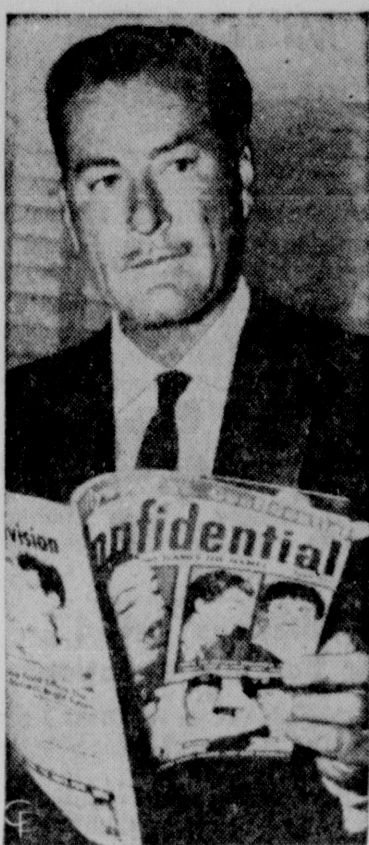

The second book presents a Seattle specialist's tabulation of seven steps in the continuing and cumulative family crisis caused by problem-drinking. They are:

1. Attempts at denial.
2. Cover-up efforts.
3. Increasing nagging and-or sulking, with fear the dominant emotion. (This is your wife's current phase).
4. Attempts to dominate—by the non-drinking spouse.
5. Latter leaves drinker and tries to reorganize family.
6. Problem-drinker campaigns drunkenly for reunion.
7. Question-mark: Are reform and reunion possible? Sometimes yes; sometimes no.

Both books are loaded with practical counsel, plus names and addresses of emergency help-centers.

Huge Library of Congress Masterminds Book Catalog

By ANNETTE DAVIS

WASHINGTON — Anyone who has used the card catalog to find a book in a local library has shared in a gigantic project masterminded at the Library of Congress.

In the fiscal year just ended, the Library of Congress sold over 26 million cards to libraries throughout the country. All types of libraries use the service: the public library for the general reader, school and university libraries, and special libraries maintained by research and business organizations.

For a few cents a piece, any library can get cards which describe a book by author, title or subject. The cards are essential to keep track of the books and to know where to find them.

Before the Library of Congress started its card catalog service in 1901, each librarian decided the best way to describe a book.

"It's not as easy as one might think," said the deputy chief assistant librarian at the Library of Congress, Miss Lucile M. Morsch. "Many times there is the question of divided authorship and, especially in the case of women authors, someone has to decide which form of the name to use."

By using cards printed at the Library of Congress, librarians everywhere benefit from the services of experts in the specialized field of descriptive cataloging, she noted. "Also," she said, "this establishes a uniformity in libraries all over the country."

Miss Morsch was largely responsible for the book, "Rules for Descriptive Cataloging in the Library of Congress," which has been adopted by the American Library Assn. For her outstanding achievements in the field she received the first Margaret Mann Award of the A.L.A. in 1951.

In June Miss Morsch became the 12th woman president of the American Library Assn. since the group was organized in 1876. This male predominance is partly due, she believes, to the fact that, with some exceptions, men have held the top jobs in library work although women far outnumber men in the field.

As president of the association for the 1957-58 year she hopes to encourage both men and women to enter library work. There are 10,000 vacancies, she says, and new libraries are opening up all the time.

After 6 Years, Judge Gets Hearing

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — George F. Hardman, police judge of suburban West Buechel for six years, will hold court for the first time Aug. 31.

The reason for the delay? West Buechel had no town marshal and therefore there were no arrests. Hence, no need for a judge.

Hugh Johnson was hired recently as town marshal and already has made a few arrests.

Umbrella Maker Aiming at Women

CINCINNATI — A New Jersey umbrella maker says the auto is folding up his business. Irving Hollander, president of F. Hollander & Son, Inc., says that American males now consider a car their umbrella.

He said, "Whoever thinks about taking a walk nowadays? They jump in the car and go for a ride."

Hollander said he is trying to interest grocers in his wares because umbrellas are an "impulse item" for women.

He said, "Get a woman in a grocery store with a little extra money and you can sell her almost anything if it looks good and the price is right."

Corner Grocery To Shrink, Fear

CINCINNATI — The managing editor of the Kentucky Grocers News predicts that the supermarket will get bigger and the corner grocery will get smaller in the future.

David W. Hacker spoke at the Tri-State Food Market Operators' Conference.

He declared that high overhead costs, complicated bookkeeping and low volume of business will eliminate the small grocer. The supermarket, he added, will continue to expand as to the products it handles and he predicted:

"A small car might be purchased in a supermarket in a few years."

Mental Hospital Doctors Increase

COLUMBUS — The Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction said today the decrease in number of patients at Ohio's mental hospitals is "due in great measure to the fact there are more physicians available."

The department said the number of physicians serving full time in these hospitals has risen from 152 a year ago to 203 today.

In addition, there has been a moderate increase in the number of physicians serving parttime, from 68 a year ago to 73 today.

Gumdrops Ready To Halt Whistler

CLAREMONT, Calif. — An abatement has been slapped on a jolly fellow who says he has been whistling ever since he was a small boy in Cornwallis, Ore.

That's just the trouble, claim some of Od Bachelor's neighbors, who, seeking a modicum of peace and quiet, lodged a disturbance of the peace complaint. A policeman called and told Od he'd have to knock off the whistling.

"I guess I whistle because I have a wonderful family and a job I like," said Bachelor. "But if I'm disturbing someone I'm going to do my best to cut it out."

Bachelor has a plan. "Since the policeman came to see me, my wife has arranged to have a bowl of gumdrops always beside me. You can't eat gumdrops and whistle at the same time, you know."

Pickaway Grange Report

NEBRASKA GRANGE

The first August meeting of the Nebraska Grange was opened by acting Worthy Master Arthur Sark. A permit from the Scioto Grange was presented by Carolyn Peters for acceptance. An appeal for aid was granted.

Miss Thelma Hines was announced as the winner of the district candy contest at the Pomona Grange held at the Scioto Grange Hall. This achievement makes her eligible to enter the State Grange convention contest, October 29, in Columbus.

Lecturer, Mrs. Neil Barr presented "Vacation Time" as the topic for the evening's program. She said that an estimated 85,000,000 people will become vacationists this year, and that 7,000,000 of them will travel by automobile. New Mexico considers this happy segment of our population second of importance in its state income.

Roger Schneider gave an informative report on his vacation to Camp Ohio. He had an opportunity to observe different methods of farm practices, commendable and otherwise. He approved the associations and recreational activities as very worthwhile for youths with farm interests.

Mrs. Russell Hedges reported about her vacation to Women's Camp at Tar Hollow. The friendships formed, the inspiration received, and the recreational program available was ample reward to these participants on vacation.

Mrs. and Mrs. James Archer's trip to the Peach Capitol, Spartanburg, S. C. revealed an interesting vacation out of state. Archer was impressed by the beautiful highways along his route, and the hospitality of the southern people. He was given a courtesy parking card with the compliments of the mayor and chief of police. This practice impressed our tourists of the sincere good will the South feels toward its traveling guests.

MR. AND MRS. Glenn Hay held the interest of everyone with a picture tour of their western travels. Miss Janet Schneider traveled the interesting program with a piano solo, "For Remembrance". Light refreshments were served by the participants.

The next meeting of the Nebraska Grange will be inspection night, August 20. Mrs. Nelson Bell and Mrs. Kelly Owens are chairman and co-chairman of the hospitality committee for the evening. A carry-in supper at 7:30 p. m. will be a feature of this meeting.

SIXTY-THREE visitors, members and families gathered recently to enjoy a covered dish supper held by Scioto Valley Grange as a farewell party for the Edwin Swayer family who are leaving to make their home in West Lafayette.

The program for the evening, designated as "Teachers' Night," was prepared by Mrs. Helen Dowling.

District adjutant and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Foreman, 7th District, second vice commander of Ashville.

ler and Mrs. Mabel Fisher. The Pickaway County Grange Quartet winners were introduced and sang two numbers, "An Old Fashioned Garden" and "Silver Moon." Mrs. Fisher introduced Dr. Harold J. Bowers of the State Department of Education as guest speaker for the evening.

Dr. Bowers spoke on the vital problems facing the school leaders and school districts today and in the future. One of the knottiest problems is the shortage of teachers. He stated the problems that face Ohio's educational system are typical of those of the nation.

The quartet, which will compete for higher honors in the state contest on Wednesday, August 28, at Ohio State Fair, closed the program with a clever selection entitled "Looking for the Lost Chord."

A short business session was held after the program. Worthy Master Bumgarner presiding. A thank you note was read from Betty Lou Leist who the Grange helped send to 4-H Conservation Camp. A detailed report of the inspection score sheet was read by the secretary.

The program for the next meeting will be in charge of the Home Economics committee with Mrs. Leona Berger, chairman.

Miss Miriam Weaver presented a program of slides at the recent meeting of Washington Twp. Grange at which 29 members and juveniles were present.

The program was entitled "To London and Back" and was preceded by group singing of the old English air, "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes."

The slides, taken by Miss Weaver's brother, Howard Weaver, when he was stationed in London, showed many interesting London scenes. Pictures of the coronation impressed our tourists of the sincere good will the South feels toward its traveling guests.

After the slides were shown the audience sang "Home Sweet Home."

At the business session conducted by F. R. Lands, master, inspection was announced for Sept. 10. Lands also announced the jingle contest sponsored by the Ohio State Grange Mutual Insurance Co. and the prince and princess contest Sunday. The county youth group is planning a mystery ride at this time to start at the Judson Beougher farm, Saltcreek Twp. It is from this group that the prince and princess will be chosen.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Lloyd Meyer, Mrs. George Valentine and Miss Bertha Valentine.

Mrs. Dalsbo Gives Luncheon

Here's Sample Of Morning TV

Two-Thirds of Viewers
Never Takes a.m. Look

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—Approximately two-thirds of the nation's average TV audience never gets a chance to see the major chunk of megacycle enterprise known as the weekday morning programs.

In this company are the folks who go to work, or are off in summer camps. (Not included in the statistics are the ones who deliberately ignore the big glass eye until after dinner).

As a special service to this neglected group, here is a report on what was doing on the airwaves one typical morning.

As the set warmed to work, there was Ned Calmer on CBS with all sorts of news. A few minutes later "Today's" Jack Lescoultie over on NBC reported the news.

At 8 a.m. EDT the adolescent element of the audience started getting saturation attention. Calmer yielded to Capt. Kangaroo, coaxing a rooster to crow, and the just-awakened ABC channel brought Tinker Tom to the waiting moppets.

NBC, sticking with the adult customers, had Dave Garroway, fresh from vacation, interviewing an Air Force major.

ABC, completely dedicated to the kiddies unreeling a steady stream of animated cartoons.

A change of pace around the dial became noticeable soon after 9 a.m. A film episode of "My Little Margie" descended on CBS followed by a repeat of Stu Erwin capers.

By 10 a.m. ABC was firmly involved in a Western film.

Fred Waring, in mood of relaxed precision, moved onto CBS with vocals and violins, just as Arlene Francis unveiled another NBC.

Steadfastly spinning the dial on, the viewer's kaleidoscope became a sequence of quiz shows on NBC (Jan Murray, Bill Cullen); Peter Lind Hayes trying on a series of hats in place of Arthur Godfrey on CBS.

In an application filed with the Federal Power Commission Monday Ohio Fuel said the new facilities would replace about 33.9 miles of existing pipeline.

Ohio Fuel said it plans new pipeline construction in Lorain, Belmont, Guernsey, Champaign, Logan, Greene, Clark, Madison, Fayette, Licking and Richland counties.

15 Citations Issued For Boating Violations

CINCINNATI (AP)—Coast Guard officers, in a weekend safety patrol on the Ohio River, issued 15 citations for alleged violations of boating regulations. Cmdr. F. L. Sampson of the Cincinnati area Coast Guard office announced the citations Monday and said that teams aboard two boats from the Coast Guard's St. Louis headquarters conducted more than 100 inspections during the two days.

Credit Union Office Entered by Thieves

CLEVELAND (AP)—Safe-crackers who entered through a 16-inch hole in the ceiling took $13,000 in cash from the Nycoll Credit Union office at the New York Central Railroad's Colwood yard.

Office manager Donald Smith, who discovered the theft Monday, said the burglars avoided railroad guards and slipped through the hole they cut in the ceiling without tripping an intricately wired alarm system.

ABC brought its morning stint to windup with film adventure in the skies. NBC submitted Bob Barker hilariously agog over "Truth or Consequences." The Senate hearing went on. The tavel finally rapped for noon recess.

Official Charge Filed in Slaying

GALLIPOLIS Ohio (AP)—Reil Blankenship, 26, of near Vinton, has been charged with first degree murder in the fatal shooting of a fellow prisoner in the Gallia County jail.

Blankenship was officially accused Monday of fatally wounding Loren Borden, 26, with a gun grabbed from Sheriff Oscar Baird as the latter was bringing another prisoner into the jail Saturday.

Blankenship also critically wounded Arnold Cooper, 23, another prisoner in his cell. Both Cooper and Borden are from near-by Porter and both are Negroes. Blankenship is white.

The sheriff said he was unable to explain the shooting.

Dairy Farmer Ups His TV Winnings

NEW YORK (AP)—Harold Craig, 26-year-old Granville, N.Y., dairy farmer, has upped his TV winnings to $84,000.

He is due back on NBC's "Twenty-One" next week to play John Baird, 35, a Los Angeles lecturer, writer and industrial consultant, at $1,000 a point. They tied Monday night on questions relating to women and the old West.

Before meeting Baird, Craig won $10,500 by defeating New York City attorney George Munroe on geography questions.

Giants Buy Ticket West; Fans Await Move by Bums

NEW YORK (AP)—The Giants, after three quarters of a century in New York, have decided to "relocate" their baseball franchise in San Francisco.

The official move will come sometime between Oct. 1 and Oct. 31, the specified time for any such action.

The Giants are not expected to make the 3,000-mile trek across the country alone. In all likelihood their long-time rivals, the Brooklyn Dodgers, will move to Los Angeles.

President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers was not available for comment but an announcement regarding the Dodgers' intentions is expected sometime next week when the board of directors meets to consider a move to California.

Horace Stoneham, Giant president, declined to discuss the possibility of the Dodgers' moving, but another Giant official, who declined use of his name, said emphatically: "You can bet all the money you've got the Dodgers will be in Los Angeles next year."

A Los Angeles resident who expressed certainty of the coming of the Dodgers was Leo Durocher, onetime manager of both the Dodgers and Giants.

"I thought the Dodgers were almost a cinch to come first but it looks like the Giants have simply beaten them to the punch," Durocher said.

Stoneham's reason for recommending the transfer was poor attendance.

"We had to go now," he said, "because if we had waited until our lease at the Polo Grounds expired, in 1962, there probably wouldn't be a good place left to move. Another thing, if we hadn't acted as fast as we did, some other club would have beaten us to San Francisco. They made us such an attractive offer, we just couldn't turn it down."

The "attractive offer" included a 45,000-seat stadium to be built by San Francisco, at a rental of 5 per cent of the attendance, plus ownership of the concessions.

"We plan to play in the Seals Stadium next season even though I have been told the park might be ready in 1958," said Stoneham. "Even with its limited capacity (22,000), I'm certain the attendance will be well over a million. Together with a million and a half guarantee we will receive from our contract with Skiatron, which will telecast our home game on a pay-as-you-see basis, I can visualize a more profitable year than any we've had in New York."

Eight of the nine members of the Board of Directors voted for the move. The lone dissenter was Mr. Donald Grant, a Wall Street broker, who thought the Giants should remain in New York.

There are still several technicalities to be worked out, however. The Pacific Coast League territory must be purchased from the Boston Red Sox, who operate the San Francisco franchise; negotiations with the coast league must be initiated, and indemnity must be paid to the league and its members.

Should there be disagreement over what is a "just and proper compensation," the entire matter will have to be arbitrated by a seven-man board headed by the commissioner of baseball, Ford Frick.

Negotiations with the Red Sox already are under way, Stoneham said.

Stoneham refused to comment on whether he offered to trade the Giants' American Assn. franchise in Minneapolis to the Red Sox for San Francisco. He denied, however, a report he had offered $125,000 for the San Francisco club. He said if he acquired the San Francisco franchise he would like to retain it in the Pacific Coast League with the intention of transferring it to Salt Lake City.

Even Braves Cautious about Firing Blanks

False Move Now in NL Race and Milwaukee Could Take Big Tumble

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
That's a weird game of Russian roulette, with a strange twist that Milwaukee, St. Louis and Brooklyn are playing in the National League pennant race. You're dead if you shoot a blank.

The Braves, even with a 6-4 game lead, can't afford to ease off. The Cardinals, in second after their worst slump in a decade, can't afford anything less than a quick winning string. And for the third-place Dodgers it's Brooklyn against the world with nobody a pushover any more.

That's the picture as the West makes its final tour through the East this season — and its last stand at the Polo Grounds, where New York's Giants are starting to pack for the trip to San Francisco.

From the record, Milwaukee and St. Louis have the edge, with the best road records in the league. The Braves are tops at 36-21 (.632). The Cards are 33-21 (.609) but are at their best in the East. St. Louis stands 21-13 (.613) in the East, while the Braves are 22-14 (.611).

The Dodgers, meanwhile, have the best home record in the league at 36-24 (.600) and are 21-14 (.600) against the Western clubs.

The Braves, who lost three of four to the Cards last weekend after winning 10 in a row, have a six-game edge on the Cardinals in the lost column with 37 games left to play to the Cards' 38. The Dodgers are eight games down on the last side with 36 remaining.

It's that lost column that rules out Cincinnati and Philadelphia from anything more than nuisance value. The fourth place Redlegs are 10 games behind in the lost totals with 38 left—nine with St. Louis, six with Milwaukee and five with the Dodgers. The fifth place Phils have lost 12 more than Milwaukee with 37 remaining—11 with Brooklyn, five with St. Louis and four with Milwaukee.

The Braves open their eight-game tour with their final game at Pittsburgh tonight.

The Cardinals open at the Polo Grounds with a two-nighter in a three-game set with the Giants, who have won 11 of their 14.

The Redlegs have a two-nighter at Ebbets Field tonight.

If there are any die-hards left who insist the New York Yankees don't have the American League flag locked up with their 7½-game lead, the champs' current Western trip ought to be the convincer. The Yanks open a three-game set at Kansas City tonight. They're 16-1 against the A's.

The "race" in the AL is with the bat, with Boston's Ted Williams carrying a .392 average into the west and Yankee Mickey Mantle trailing at .385. Williams opens the tour at Cleveland, with a fat .532 mark against the Indians. Mantle has hit a .460 clip against Kansas City.

Against the west the two leaders have hit like this:

Chicago	.364	.470
Cleveland	.532	.448
Detroit	.357	.226
Kansas City	.442	.460

There was only one game in the majors Monday and Kansas City defeated Cleveland 1-0 with a combination of long shots. Tom Gorman (3-7), who hadn't had a complete game in almost a year and hadn't pitched a shutout since 1952, beat the Indians with a four-hitter—riding in on an RBI single by Tim Thompson, who was 0-for-42, going back to July 23. Ray Narleski lost it with a five-hitter for a 9-3 record.

Baltimore Wins Amateur Crown

JOHNSTOWN, Pa. (AP)—Baltimore today held the All-American Amateur Baseball Assn. championship for the second time in the 13-year history of the organization. The Maryland club, which also won in 1946, has sweet revenge Monday night by beating Brooklyn 7-1 to cop the title. Brooklyn was the titlist in 1950 and 1951, each time beating Baltimore in the final game.

Ashville Launches Initial 11-Man Football Team in '57

For the first time in many years Ashville High School will participate in 11-man football this season.

The Broncos made the switch following two seasons in the Pickaway County six-man league, winning the loop championship both years.

The Ashville gridders will be a member of the newly-formed Darby Valley League which includes Johnathan Alder, Mt. Sterling, West Jefferson and Madison South. Non-loop games have been scheduled with McArthur and Summit Station.

First taste of 11-man action for the Broncos is slated September 6 when they travel to Frankfort for a pigskin preview with Millersport, Boys' Industrial School and the host team.

THE Broncos' home games will be played on the Circleville High School gridiron on Friday nights when the Tigers are scheduled for away contests. The first home game is set for September 13 with Mt. Sterling. Kickoff time is 8 p. m.

Coach Russ Gregg has 14 returning lettermen from last year's undefeated six-man team. The veterans are headed by halfback Dick Hoover, last year's leading scorer in the county loop. Other lettermen include ends Ron Bartholomew, Chet Fortner, Bob Peters, John Moss and Bob Hoover, halfbacks Bill Hollenback and Bob Boyer, quarterback Bill Boyer, fullback Fred Accord, tackles Chuck Moss and Bill Neal and center Bob Featheringham.

According to coach Gregg his squad will run basically from a winged-T using the split-T principle. The team is expected to be a big squad with plenty of speed.

With a few games experience under their belts, the Bronco gridders are expected to furnish some rugged competition for other teams in the Darby Valley circuit.

Here is the 1957 schedule:
Sept. 6—Preview at Frankfort
Sept. 13—Mt. Sterling
Sept. 20—open
Sept. 27—at West Jefferson
Oct. 4—at McArthur
Oct. 11—at Madison South
Oct. 18—open

Big Fighters Tapering Off For Match

SEATTLE (AP)—This is tapering-off day in the champion's camp as Floyd Patterson winds up training for a Thursday bout.

Some 20 miles away, at Issaquah, challenger Pete Rademacher planned one more session of heavy work today before breaking camp. The Olympic champion from Columbus, Ga., retains his air of quiet confidence as fight time nears.

Although the majority of his bouts as an amateur—he had 79 and won all but 7—were booked for three two-minute rounds, 210-pound Pete says he has no qualms over the prospect of going 15 three-minute rounds against the champion.

"I'm actually calmer now than I was before the Olympics," said the powerful challenger Monday night. "Then I didn't know what fighting styles I would be up against."

But now I've watched Patterson five times on television. I know his style. I feel I'm ready to meet any type of attack the champion may select and I plan to let him set the pattern."

The fact that the fight has been planned as a "mismatch" by ex-fighters, ring officials, a congressman and many writers has not bothered any of the principals.

Cleveland Awaits Terrible Ted

CLEVELAND (AP)—Terrible Ted Williams is back in town.

A ferocious hitter against any ball team, the Pride of Boston is at his very best against the Indians. He arrived today with the Red Sox, who open a three-game series with the Tribe tonight.

In 17 games against the Indians this season he has abating average of .532. The last time Cleveland played host to Boston, Terrible Ted had a perfect day at the plate. In the first game of a double header he hit a home run and two singles. He spent most of the second game on the bench but was called on as a pinch hitter in the ninth inning. He hit another home run.

Judy Ankrom Wins Saddle Trophy

Miss Ankrom won the trophy for riders-under-16 class aboard Little Wonder. The trophy winner is entered in performance - in - saddle events at the Ohio State Fair next week.

Opening Date For Squirrels Set for Sept. 16

Local hunters are reminded that Pickaway County is not included in the list of southern Ohio counties which have an early opening date for the 1957 squirrel season.

Labor Day, September 2, is opening day for southern zone counties but this is not a statewide opening date. First day for the northern zone, including Pickaway County, is September 16. The season for both zones will close October 31.

Counties comprising the southern zone are Jefferson, Carroll, Tuscarawas, Holmes, Knox, Licking, Coshocton, Guernsey, Harrison, Belmont, Muskingum, Fairfield, Perry, Morgan, Noble, Monroe, Washington, Athens, Hocking, Vinton, Meigs, Gallia, Jackson, Lawrence, Scioto, Pike, Ross, Highland, Adams, Brown, Clermont and Hamilton.

The northern zone includes the remaining 56 counties. Both zones will have a daily bag limit of four squirrels per day, with eight being the possession limit after the first day.

Out-Staters Set Jaycee Tourney Pace

COLUMBUS (AP)—Four sharp-shooting golfers went into the second 18 of a 36-hole qualifier today determined to take medalist honors in the 12th annual International Jaycees junior golf tournament.

Jack Varian, an Anniston, Ala.; David Leon, Tucson, Ariz.; Jimmy Gabrielson, Athens, Ga., and W. Ross Teter, Dallas, Tex., led a field of 196 teen-age golfers with one over par 73. The leading scores were carded over Ohio State University's tricky, 6,810-yard, par 36-36 layout.

Leon has been the Tucson junior champion three times while Teter is the Texas high school titlist. Varian is the Alabama Jaycee crown-holder and Gabrielson, only 15, has won several tournaments in Athens.

Heavy rains and Ohio State's rugged course played havoc with most of the youthful golfers, forcing scores up into the mid-80s. The field will be cut to the low 100 scores and ties and all international entries after today's competition.

petition. Tournament officials predicted a two-day total of 165 or better would be needed to qualify for 72-hole medal play which runs through Saturday.

Also in the running for medalist honors are five players bracketed in a tie for fifth place with 74s. Eight performers were in a deadlock for 10th place with 75s.

Stoutsville Little Leaguers Stop Car Dealers, 11-2

Browns Grocery of Stoutsville, scoring nine runs in the fourth inning, clipped New Car Dealers, 11-2, in a Little League contest at Ted Lewis Park last night.

Although the grocerymen were outthit, 8-5, they made the most of nine walks and five Car Dealers errors.

Local League Title Contest Due Tomorrow

Championship of the Circleville Independent softball league will be decided Wednesday night when Top Hat and Chillicothe One Hour Cleaners meet in a title playoff contest. The tilt is slated for 8 p. m. at Ted Lewis Park.

Chillicothe, breezing through without a defeat, won the first round of play here. Top Hat duplicated this feat in the final half of league play to capture the second round title.

According to league officials a championship trophy will be awarded to Wednesday night's winner, with a runnerup trophy going to the losers.

Top Hat, fresh from winning the District 8 title at Greenfield last week, probably will go all out to improve its record. The local nine travels to Youngstown during the weekend to participate in the state finals.

Chillicothe will be out for some measure of revenge, having lost out to the Hatters in the district tourney. In the last meeting of the two teams here, Top Hat clipped the Cleaners, 6-4, in a tightly played contest.

DuPont Team Travels

DuPont, a member of the Circleville Mosquito League, travels to Williamsport today for an exhibition tilt.

petition. Tournament officials predicted a two-day total of 165 or better would be needed to qualify for 72-hole medal play which runs through Saturday.

Also in the running for medalist honors are five players bracketed in a tie for fifth place with 74s. Eight performers were in a deadlock for 10th place with 75s.

Pitcher Wendell Lovett was credited with the win, fanning six and walking none. Gary Lagore and Bruce Helwagon hurled for the Carmen. Lagore whiffed six and walked four and Helwagon retired four on strikes and issued five passes.

Bob Hooker smacked a homer and Strehl had a triple for the winners. Larry Plum tagged a three bagger and David Strausbaugh lined a double for the Car Dealers.

BROWNS grabbed a 2-0 lead in the first frame, but the losers came back with two in the second. After a scoreless third inning, the winners cut loose for nine in a fourth stanza surge.

The line score:
New Car 020 000 — 2 8 5
Stoutsville 200 000 — 11 5 3
Lagore, Helwagon and Reichelderfer

Dodgers Invest In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Baseball writer Frank Finch of the Los Angeles Times said today the Brooklyn Dodgers have invested $200,000 in their California subsidiary, the California Baseball Club, Inc.

Authority to issue 200 shares of stock in the Dodger-manned corporation was given last week and the Dodgers promptly snapped up all the stock, Finch said.

International Stars Lose Contest

MONTREAL (AP)—International League teams tonight get back to the business of determining a champion after the annual all-star break.

The stars gave the National League Brooklyn Dodgers a battle Monday night before a crowd of 15,999, extending the 1956 championships to 11 innings before dropping a 2-1 thriller.

All-Stars Meet at Park

Rotary's Little League All-Stars are requested to meet at Ted Lewis Park at 5 p. m. Friday prior to leaving for a game at Williamsport. Transportation will be at the park.

Registration of Sporting Weapons Seen in New Move

By DION HENDERSON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Although any effort to pass legislation that sounds as though it might require registration of sporting weapons long has been regarded as a perilous form of political Russian roulette, the Internal Revenue Service proposes to accomplish the same thing under the heading of tax bookkeeping.

The director of the Service's Alcohol and Tobacco Tax Division, however, now had called a hearing on the proposed amendment. It will be held Aug. 27 in Washington.

There is some evidence the meeting will be well attended by what you might call some guns in the arms and ammunition field. Such powerful voices as the Wildlife Management Institute report what they refer to ominously as "widespread objection among sportsmen to some of the proposed changes."

These specifically are paragraph 177.52, which would require that records be kept of all individual purchases of center-fire revolver and pistol ammunition, and paragraph 177.54, which would require that all persons buying pistols, revolvers, rifles and shotguns sign a receipt acknowledging the possession of such firearms.

The commanding objection in the past has been that such registration, while not hindering criminals in the slightest, would at best be a confounded nuisance to

Redlegs Confess Pitching Is Weak

BROOKLYN (AP)—Cincinnati's nosediving Redlegs return to the National League wars today with at least official explanation of what ails them.

The problem is weak pitching.

That's the admission by General Manager Gabe Paul who said he is to blame for the recent Redleg slump, not Field Manager Birdie Tebbetts.

"There have been some mistakes made and I accept the responsibility for those," Paul said, "but at the same time, there is only one thing I have in mind now and that is a strengthening of our staff for the future."

Another step in the long state-by-state fight to take conservation out of politics, and vice versa, has been recorded in Oklahoma. Clarence Burch, director of the state's Department of Wildlife Conservation, says in an official statement: "Employees are free to think and vote as they please, but we expect them to refrain from taking any part in political campaigns. They cannot hold any political office or serve as committeemen or in any other capacity with political organizations. Employment with the department will be based on qualifications and satisfactory service, and no employee will be under any political obligation."

Short casts: Farmer Howard Ferguson of Connellsville, Pa., solved one wildlife mystery recently: he spotted a mallard duck leading a fresh hatched brood to water. Eight ducklings plunged right in, the ninth was reluctant. Finally coaxed in by the duck the infant sank like a stone. Ferguson fished it out, learned why, it was a pheasant chick.

Trapshooting Chiefs Study Changes in Handicap Rules

VANDALIA, Ohio (AP)—Trapshooting, already a "do-it-backwards" sport in some ways, is considering a couple of rule changes to give the experts a better chance against the novices.

The unique scattergun game at the 58th Grand American in progress here this week pays money prizes only to its amateurs. Its professionals win trophies, but no cash. A charge at the gate is not for revenue, but to hold down the crowd at the 1,500,000-target event.

The proposed changes, which would affect handicap yardages and ammunition, will be discussed tonight by ex-presidents of the Amateur Trapshooting Assn. and Wednesday night by the group's directors.

Ralph M. Jenkins of Orleans, Ind., the 1944-45 president, is author of the proposal, which would bunch the shooters in the big money races, the Preliminary and Grand American handicaps, which carry prize lists of around $80,000 each.

Under present rules, the marksmen, rated on their season averages and known ability, are stationed from 18 to 27 yards back of the trap from which the flying clays emerge. The 26 and 27-yard handicaps were added two years ago because of some fancy shooting in the West and no one at the Grand has won anything from those spots.

In 57 previous Grand and '56 Preliminary handicaps here, only five of the 113 have been won from further back than 22 yards, where the experts operate. Seventy have been won from 19 yards or closer from where the unknowns from nowhere do their shooting and prize winning.

The 100-target Grand has been won four times from 23 yards, and once from 25, but 22 yards is the Preliminary's winning limit.

Jenkins urges that the 26 and 27-yard shooters be moved up to the 25 and that no one fire from closer than 20. He would move the present 20, 21 and 22 yarders back a notch, and keep the 23, 24 and 25-yard handicappers where they are.

His other proposal would cut the charge of powder in each shell to 2 1/2 grams from the present 2 3/4 or 3 grams, and limit shot sizes to 7 1/2 or 8. His thought is that gun clubs would not have to stock so many different shells and that ammunition companies with only one or two types to manufacture, could cut prices a bit.

The hotshots seem to like the handicap distance changes, but

Brown Tries To Replace Passing Duo

CLEVELAND (AP)—With quarterback Otto Graham doing the throwing and end Dante Lavelli catching, the Cleveland Browns once boasted one of the most effective passing combinations in professional football.

The Graham-to-Lavelli combination sparked many a Brown victory in the years when Cleveland was the class of professional football. With Graham's retirement in slung off the ammunition proposal as lessening their chances because of lower fire power.

The novices like the lower powder charge (it kicks less), but frown on the handicap changes. Both proposals are exciting plenty of comment here where class championships were being decided today.

In the class races, 200 targets at 16 yards, each shooter competes against only those of comparable ability. It is the only event of its kind on the week's program.

1955, the Browns slipped to a fourth-place finish.

Lavelli retired this season and Coach Paul Brown, unable to find a successor to Graham, is now lacking at right end. Tommy O'Connell and John Borton have looked impressive at quarterback but neither appeared to measure up to the brilliant Graham.

At right end, Brown may be forced to rely on three rookies, Thurlow Cooper of Maine, Frank Clarke of Colorado and Carl Isaacs of Stanford. Halfback Ray Renfro was given a trial at Lavelli's position but was returned to the backfield.

When the Browns take the field against the Pittsburgh Steelers in an exhibition game in Akron's Rubber Bowl Saturday, either Cooper or Clarke will start.

But Isaacs, running behind five-year veteran Darrel Brewster at left end, appears to be the outstanding candidate for the job of extra offensive end.

"Isaacs has good hands, football sense and the knack of getting open," Brown commented after Monday's scrimmage.

War Spirit bears the apt lip tattoo number 1776. He is a 3-year-old gelded son of War Admiral—Wood Spirit and is owned by R. V. Stockton.

Young Sword Expert Slated To Head Girard Prosecution

Editor's Note: Following is the first in a series of articles giving the background and atmosphere to the upcoming trial in Japan of an Illinois GI, William Girard.

By FRED SAITO
MAEBASHI, Japan (P)—A boyish-looking young man with a well-earned reputation as a fencer will argue Japan's case against Specialist 3. C. William G. Girard in his trial on charges of shooting down a Japanese woman on a target range.
Yoshiro Konawa, 35, a soft-spoken man of 5 feet 2, is rated the most brilliant of eight young prosecutors assigned by the justice ministry to this rural district court. He also is the fiercest swordsman in the province and regularly cuts down husky policemen in exhibition duels.
Konawa, who is quite concerned about his key role in the sensational trial which opens next Monday, works on his case daily with Kaname Watanabe, 54, the chief district prosecutor.
Court observers and newsmen assigned here call Watanabe a "man of the greatest caliber" and a man headed for the summit of Japan's judiciary system. He will not appear in court, but will mastermind the prosecution.

Konawa, who was associate prosecutor in another widely-publicized trial involving Americans, law and the complicated status of forces agreement between Japan and the United States.
Friends say he has steadfastly insisted on Japan's right to try Girard since Mrs. Naka Sakai died on a U.S. military firing range last Jan. 30 with an empty cartridge case fired from a grenade launcher embedded in her back.
Konawa was associated prosecutor in the trial of four American soldiers involved in what became to be known internationally as the "Maebashi pinball riot." Several Japanese policemen were injured in quelling a street fight which began in a Maebashi pachinko (pinball) parlor. The soldiers were convicted and sentenced to prison terms of three to six months, but all sentences were suspended.

Unofficial reports credit Konawa with quashing plans for an appeal with this acid comment:
"It was a shame that sober Japanese policemen were beaten and injured by a bunch of drunk Americans."
Watanabe, a former chief criminal prosecutor in the Tokyo higher court, was transferred to Maebashi early this year. The son of a successful Tokyo lawyer, Watanabe is tall and slender, every inch the Japanese gentleman. He looks much younger than his 54 years and loves to play baseball on the prosecutor's team here.
Young Konawa, incidentally, is the team's star pitcher and has a batting average of over .300.
Watanabe has assigned his deputy, Kakuichi Sugimoto, 48, as Konawa's associate in the Girard trial—an unusual move in the hierarchy-conscious Japanese judicial system.

His Pajama Tour Of World Ended

PAWTUCKET, R. I. (P)—Stephen Landry, dressed in his best pajamas and carrying a blanket, set out to see the world.
He got only a block from his home when a woman spotted him and called police.
Half an hour later, the parents of the 2½-year-old discovered his disappearance and went to the police station, where he had been bedded down, his global trek at an end.

Case Against Farmer Is Dropped by Agency

CLEVELAND (P)—Glenn Calhoun of Nova, Richland County, had been sued for $168 by the federal government on a charge of planting wheat above quota in 1954. But Monday Prosecutor Sumner Canary announced dismissal of the case. He said Agriculture Department lawyers had found Calhoun's troubles were caused by "erroneous advice."

Cincinnati Records Fourth Polio Patient

CINCINNATI (P)—Cincinnati has recorded its fourth polio case of the year.
Harold Gardner, 31, was reported under treatment at General Hospital. Officials said neither he nor the three previous victims, all children, had received Salk vaccine shots. Last year there had been 15 polio cases in Cincinnati at this time.

Famed Novelist Does Script, Plans To Act in Own Movie

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (P)—"I no longer have a lifetime to look forward to and take care of. At the most, it is 20 or 25 years. So now I can afford to take chances."
This, Erich Maria Remarque reasons, is why he agreed to write the screen play for his book, "A Time to Love and a Time to Die" and act in it, too. At latest report, the film is being called "there's a time to love" — don't ask why.
I came across the famed novelist, handsome at 59, as he had finished the last pages of the screen play and was cleaning out his desk.
He proved to be an excellent talker. It is easy to see how his charm has fascinated such famous women as Marlene Dietrich, Greta Garbo and Paulette Goddard.
About his screen writing—"This is another departure for me. The first was last year when I went to Berlin to open my first play, 'The Last Station.'
"Before we opened, the cast came and asked me what they should do if the audience started throwing stones. We just didn't know what they would do. Here was a story of the last days of Berlin before the fall of Hitler. There were scenes of the rape of women and we knew there would be women in the audience who had been through such things. How would they react?
"The play had 35 curtain calls. It was a great hit and encouraged me to attempt this screen play."
Another reason for the film project: To escape the humid New York summer. Universal-International came up with the deal at just the right time.
It's the first time in 30 years he has worked in an office, he remarked. The last was when he edited a sports car magazine in Germany. He took time out from his work to write a novel, "All Quiet on the Western Front."
Writing time: five weeks.
Some of the best publishing minds turned it down before it was finally printed and became a runaway bestseller. He has had the supreme satisfaction of an author in seeing that happen with two more of his books.
LEXINGTON, Mo. (P)—A fugitive Ohio convict, James Richard Esson, 35, was brought here Monday from Kansas City, where he was captured Friday, to face a charge of first-degree robbery.
He was charged in connection with the abduction at gunpoint of a young Kansas couple found captive in the trunk of their car, which Esson was driving.
Esson walked off from the London, Ohio, Prison Farm May 26, 1956, while serving a life term for a holdup-murder.
The kidnap victims, Mr. and Mrs. Carl A. Wagner of Salina, gave him a ride while returning home from a vacation trip. Wagner was slugged, but not seriously. Mrs. Wagner was unhurt.

CINCINNATI (P)—Neil H. McElroy, whose appointment to be secretary of defense was confirmed by the Senate Monday, doesn't know just how soon he will be going to Washington to take over his new job.
McElroy, president of Procter & Gamble Co. here, will succeed Charles E. Wilson as defense secretary.

Parole Aide Gets OK

WASHINGTON (P)—Harvey G. Straub's nomination to the U. S. Parole Board was approved Monday by the Senate Judiciary Committee. Straub is from Ohio.
said he still had some things to do around P. & G. And a spokesman explained:
"He and Mr. Wilson will decide just when he will go to Washington to take over. They both have things to be done and, presumably, they will get together on when the change will be made."

12 Big Firms' Profits Top $100 Million

All but 1 Clears More This Year than In 1st Half of '56

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (P)—The top money makers in the ranks of big business are doing decidedly better than the average corporation this year. Their combined profits are also well ahead of last year and of 1955.
In the first six months of this year 12 nonfinancial corporations cleared more than 100 million dollars each after taxes. All but one of them (top place General Motors) made more than in the first half of 1956. All but two (GM and Ford Motor) had higher net income after taxes than in the first six months of prosperous 1955.
The top dozen had combined profits of $2,808,200,000 in the first half of 1957, a gain of 11.4 per cent over the $2,520,300,000 the same 12 made in the first six months of 1956 and a gain of 11.3 per cent over the 1955 first half total of $2,621,800,000.
For 588 corporations, big and little, first to report on 1957 profits, the increase over last year's first total average 4.5 per cent.
The list of corporations topping the 100 million dollar mark has increased each year. In 1955 there were 10 such companies. In 1956 Gulf Oil joined the group to make the total 11. This year Bethlehem Steel makes it an even dozen.
Although down both from last year and 1955 GM still is first with 481 million dollars net in the first half, off 4.4 per cent from a year ago.
Jersey Standard Oil is now close behind GM with 463 million dollars, up 18 per cent from last year. The Bell Telephone System continues to hold third place with 418 million dollars, a 15 per cent gain over a year ago.
Making better than 200 million dollars each this year are fourth place U. S. Steel and fifth place Du Pont. Gulf Oil has climbed quickly to sixth spot, with Ford close behind.
Three more oils follow: Texas in eighth spot, California Standard ninth and Socony Mobil tenth. General Electric 6th in 1955, dropped to 11th place both last year and this.

College Girls Give Designer New View of Paris Fashions

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor
If you want the lowdown on French fashions, talk to an American college girl who has seen the Paris collections. My current source is 18-year-old Joan Simpson, a student at Bennett Junior College in Millbrook, N.Y., and the daughter of New York dress designer Adele Simpson.

His Smiles Bring Pair of Mistrials

LOS ANGELES (P)—Roy J. (Rusty) Burrell, 31, a bailiff, will be known around the courthouse from now on as the man whose smiles cause mistrials.
Rusty won $2,091 in damages Monday for injuries he and his wife, Clara, suffered in an auto accident last year. But not before Rusty's broad grin caused two mistrials.
Defense counsel called it "a knowing smile" when Rusty's face lit up during questioning of a prospective juror. So the jury was dismissed. Then when Rusty smiled friendly like at the judge, under whom he had served briefly as bailiff, defense counsel again protested. Jury again dismissed.
So the case was transferred to another judge. This time Rusty kept a straight face and won.

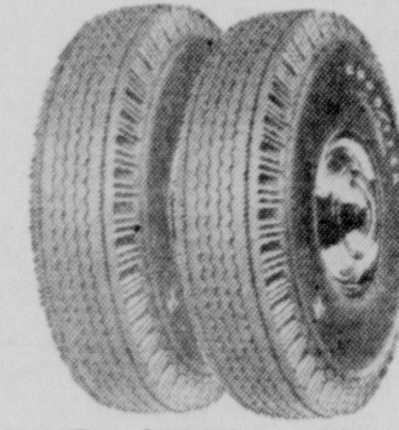

Police Chief Leads In Traffic Crackdown

CLEVELAND (P)—Police Chief Frank W. Story, who has been pretty hot under the collar about traffic accidents, did something about it Monday afternoon.
The chief was inspecting the Shoreway when he noticed a driver weaving in and out at about 60 miles an hour. He chased the driver, had him charged with careless driving and having a defective muffler. The man was identified as Richard Bartholomew, 20, of Cleveland.

Miner of Chicago, a Wellesley student, have just returned from a grand tour of Europe, where they saw the works under the wing of Joan's mother, the small but mighty Mrs. Simpson.
"I got a completely new view of fashions from the girls," says Adele. "It was a fresh, accent-on-youth approach that did me good. They liked all the things I thought were awful, and vice versa. It was a fine way for a designer to get out of a rut."
Joan loved all the middy tops and pleated skirts, for instance, and all the gunnysack dresses. As to the new silhouette variously described as "spindle," "barrel" and "ova," Joan says:
"I'd just call them all eggs—and I think that's the best term, because they come scrambled, hard-boiled or soft."
The girls liked the short dresses, too, although some of the more extreme examples elicited the following remark from the junior Simpson: "The models look just like cigarette girls—all they need is a tray on one hip."
Mom Simpson didn't agree about the short skirts, since she holds firmly to the belief that most women's knees look better covered, and that the skirt length is a personal matter to be decided by each woman for herself.

Left-Hand Driving Habit Brings Crash

CHILLICOTHE, Mo. (P)—Mrs. Dorothy Sparks of Detroit told police she had just returned from Japan, was accustomed to driving on the left side of the road and that's the reason she had a head-on collision Monday with another car on U.S. 65.
Neither Mrs. Sparks nor the other driver, William Andrew Horgan, 42, of Slater, Mo., was injured.
A highway patrolman charged her with careless driving and said she was on the wrong side of the road.

What makes these tires better than others?
? IT'S 3-T CORD

and only GOODYEAR has it!
What is 3-T?
3-T cord is the result of Goodyear's precise Tension, Temperature, and Time control process for treating rayon and nylon tire cord.
Why is 3-T better?
Untreated rayon and nylon tend to stretch under tension. 3-T controls this "stretch" and increases the strength and resistance to fatigue.
